Love-crazed orangutan strikes AGAIN!

By MICKEY McGUIRE
Special report

Good grief! Amorous Annie is at it again!

The love-crazed orangutan, who two years ago swung down from a tree to kiss a game park visitor on the lips and strip him naked, has resumed her playful, passionate assaults on unsuspecting males.

In the Dec. 1, 1992 issue, Weekly World News told how French tourist Antoine Bittoun became the first victim of Amorous Annie's own version of The Dating Game.

Since then, Annie has managed to keep her passion in check. But in recent weeks, she's more shunned up than ever.

So far the horny ape has bonelled her unbridled affection on nine unsuspecting male visitors to the Borneo Game Park on the island of Jersey.

In her sudden "assaults," Annie gives each of her victims a lingering kiss before ripping the clothes from their backs and sending them slinking away naked as jaybirds while crowds of park visitors gawk in amusement.

"That nutty ape is driving us bananas," moaned park supervisor Suzi Oberst. "All of the animals, including the orangutans, are off-limits to park visitors.

"But Annie is determined not to be deterred when she gets in an amorous mood. And every time people put her little love game, she runs off into the jungle and rejoins the other apes.

"If we capture her, we'll take her out of the park and release her with an orangutan colony on another island.

"Officials in Sumatra have granted us permission to release her there."

Annie's affairs of the heart are the talk of the town in Jersey, and the locals are taking bets on how long it will be before Annie makes her next conquest.

"At first, when she kissed me, I thought she was trying to eat me. Then, when she started ripping my clothes off, I thought, 'Oh my God! She's going to rape me.'

"She can imagine the relief I felt when the ape suddenly pursed and ran away.

Annie's most recent victim, Max Muller.

She tears the clothes off her male victims — and covers them with kisses

Annie's attacks on her victims is to their pride. In every attack, hundreds of park visitors of all ages get an eyeful as the naked men made a mad dash for cover with all their acquired secrets swaying in the breeze.

"I have never been so embarrassed in my life," declared 21-year-old German medical student Max Muller. "I was just walking along with my video camera when, all of a sudden, this huge baby ape drops out of a tree and leaps on me in her arms.

"At first, when she kissed me, I thought she was trying to eat me. Then, when she started ripping my clothes off, I thought, 'Oh my God! She's going to rape me.'

"She can imagine the relief I felt when the ape suddenly pursed and ran away.

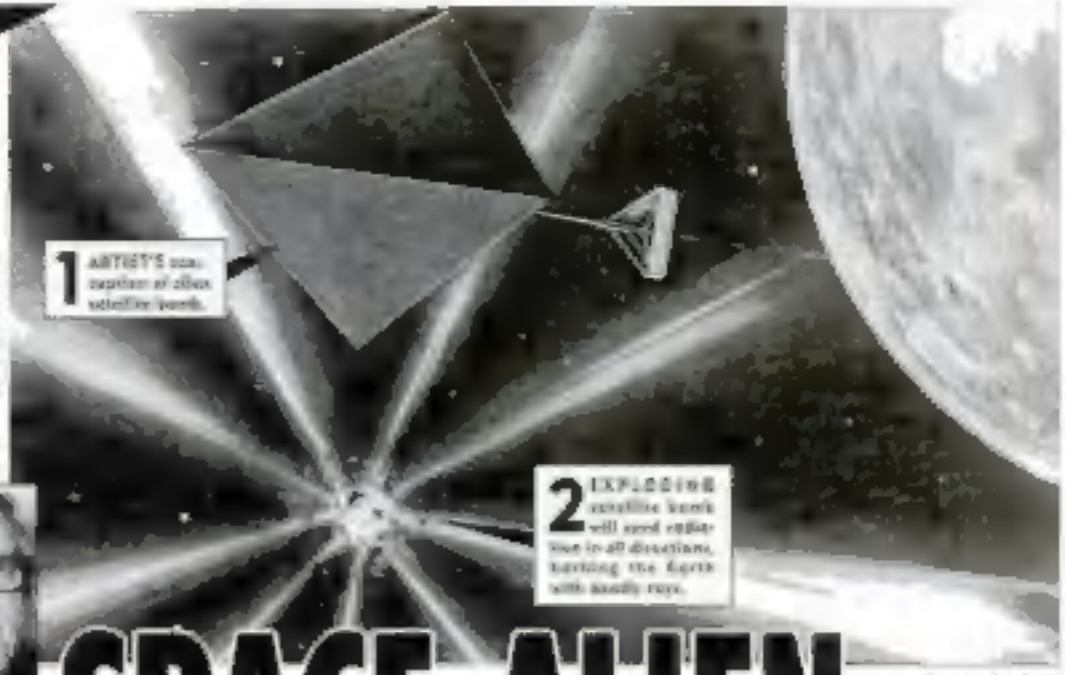
SPACE ALIEN BOMB ORBITING EARTH!



By RANDY JEFFRIES
Correspondent

HOUSTON, Texas — A deadly bomb that was designed and built by space aliens is orbiting Earth and could detonate at any moment — blowing our planet to smithereens!

That's the terrifying assumption of Dr. Burton Gleast, scientist and long-time consultant on many of the world's top space projects.

"The estimated power of this bomb is more than 1,000 megatons," says Dr. Gleast, 49.

"That's 30,000 times more powerful than the atomic bomb that leveled Hiroshima in august of 1945. It could wipe out three continents in 10 seconds."

MYSTERIOUS space phenomenon are Dr. Burton Gleast's specialty.

The story began after Dr. Gleast, whose specialty is tracking and identifying mysterious space phenomena, was called in to an unidentified space agency for a top-secret meeting.

"They told me their radar had detected a strange new satellite circling Earth and asked me to investigate," says Dr. Gleast.

"I tracked and photographed the object with a high-powered camera and noticed there was something that looked like an atomic detonator attached to it.

"It could wipe out three continents in 10 seconds!"

"When a highly classified rocket mission was authorized to examine it more closely, our worst fears were confirmed. It was an explosive device. There are writings on the bomb in a language unlike any known on Earth.

"And the metal it's composed of is not from here either. But the most alarming aspect of all this is that we don't know how to disarm it.

"The technology involved is far beyond our present abilities."

Dr. Gleast said he wanted to inform the public, but the agency that hired him, which he refused to name out of concern for his safety, was concerned that the news would spark worldwide panic. He says that shortly afterward, there was a break-in at his office.

"I just showed up one day and found my desk ransacked and files missing.

"Someone had taken it all. State secrets by explosives experts, records of the exploration mission and — most importantly — the plutos."

News of the bomb is particularly disturbing, coming just two weeks after the world press carried the story of a Russian doomsday satellite, armed with 100 atomic warheads, that is plummeting toward Earth.

Weekly World News published that story in its Jan. 25, 1994 edition.

Latest reports say the Russian device is well on the way to being disarmed.

But this alien-made bomb will not be so easily disarmed.

Dr. Gleast claims he still has friends at the world's major space agencies who continue to leak information to him.

He says they inform him that efforts to disarm the device are "getting nowhere fast."

HITLER IS COMING BACK!

Nazi dictator returns from the dead, and it's NO MORE MR. NICE GUY!

By LAUREL BOWIE / Correspondent

Adolf Hitler will return soon from beyond the grave and he's issued a chilling warning to all mankind: This time, no more Mr. Nice Guy!

World-renowned psychic Leandro Mason says he's been in contact with the dead dictator's spirit on three separate occasions — and that the most hated man who ever lived expects to be reincarnated this spring.

"Adolf Hitler is making plans to return to this life and he fully intends to rule us all this time around," the Pittsburgh seer told a reporter.

"The man who exterminated six million Jews during World War II feels his efforts failed back then because he wasn't ruthless enough — because his kind nature prevented him from making the cold, hard decisions necessary to conquer the world.

"He has told me repeatedly that this time he won't be nearly as soft on those who dare stand in his way."

The super psychic says he first made contact with Hitler's spirit in August 1993 while attempting to reach a client's sister in the hereafter.

"I originally had no intention of speaking to a man like Adolf Hitler, but suddenly, during a routine session, there he was — and it was obvious he was eager to communicate with someone in the world of the living," Mason said.

"His soul is currently imprisoned in a fiery afterworld presiding over the regular [illegible] Hall and he's counting the days till its release — his reincarnation that day he says, will come on April 14, 1994, the second anniversary of his death."

Mason says Hitler confirmed an exclusive Weekly World News story revealing that the Nazi madman died of a heart attack in Argentina on April 14, 1992.

Historians previously believed the Führer and his mistress Eva Braun had committed suicide on April 30, 1945, in Berlin.

"Hitler is very proud of the fact that he managed to fool everyone for so long. He nearly had a second life," the psychic said.

"In fact, he is very proud of all his 'accomplishments,' and each time I contacted him, he bragged on and on about what a brilliant, powerful man he was. Even in death, he considers himself a great orator."

Mason says Hitler is convinced he will soon be reborn as a baby boy somewhere in the United States — and that he is destined to rule over every man, woman and child on earth.

"He's determined to conquer the world and make it safe for his master race, no matter how much pain, death and destruction he causes," the medium said. "He's convinced he lost World War II because he was too nice a guy, too soft on both his friends and his enemies. And he's told me over and over, 'I won't make that mistake again.'"

AMERICA'S CHILDREN GROWING FUR ON THEIR TONGUES

Hairball virus spreading throughout U.S. schools!

Hundreds of school children all over America are growing thick hair on their tongues and coughing up hairballs — because of a bizarre disease that is spreading like wildfire.

By JASON MILSTEAD

"I have seven or eight children in my class that can't make it through the day without gagging and choking on the fur balls," said teacher Doris Winstons of suburban Utica, N.Y. "It really disturbs the class but there's nothing they can do about it."

CONCERNED teacher Doris Winstons.

The strange affliction was first revealed in Weekly World News in early 1991 when children in Germany started growing the hair on their tongues.

Since that story broke, tongued kids have been reported in America, France, England and now the east coast of the United States.

"It doesn't help to shave the hair off because it grows right back," Miss Winstons said.

"And after they drink, the hair follows, literally, when it's first covered with milk."

Researchers in Germany believe the disease is spread by a virus that is highly contagious but some children apparently are immune to it.

"When one child in a family has it there's a good chance all the brothers and sisters will get it," said German researcher Dr. William Kentz.

"But then some children outside that family can be exposed to the virus and never develop the symptoms."

BIZARRE ailment was first reported by Weekly World News in the Feb. 26, 1991 issue.

experts of this disease."

Dr. Kentz said only children acquire the disease.

"We haven't had any cases of adults growing tongue hair," the Munich-based expert said.

"And older children who have grown the hair seem to start getting rid of it when they are about 13 or 14 years old."

Now U.S. researchers are wrestling with the tough question over whether to allow the shaggy-tongue kids in class.

"It doesn't seem fair for us to kick them out of school, but we've got to do something about it," said Dr. Kentz.

"If this is a problem those children will have for several years, then we'd better start planning a way to provide Flintstone Diet!

You can lose weight and improve your health at the same time — on the low-fat, easy-to-follow Fred Flintstone Diet!

The amazing regimen, brainchild of New Zealand anthropologist Audrey Hardrese, involves eating the same foods that Fred and other ancient cavemen ate. The healthy, low-calorie diet is delicious, high in fiber and rich in vitamins, Dr. Hardrese says. It helped primitive man survive in a hostile world, and it can help you do the same, the scientist says.

"I was studying the cavemen of middle Europe and I began to realize that compared to modern man, primitive man was remarkably lean and fit," says Dr. Hardrese, 45. "Since I was overweight, I decided to try their simple diet and that's how The Flintstone Diet was born.

"It really works — I can attest to that from personal experience. I lost 40 pounds in just six months on caveman food and I feel younger and more energetic than I have in years."

Experts say caveman like Fred ate foods that contained few calories but were high in fiber. They didn't eat much protein, and if they did get meat it was very low in fat. They ate a great deal of plant food, gurging on flowers in the summertime. And to round out their diet, they snacked on nuts, insects, birds, lizards, rodents, snakes, fish and rubbery.

Eliminating the less palatable parts of an ancient man's diet — staples like mice, snake and insects — and replacing them with modern food that is equivalent in nutrients, Dr. Hardrese came up with his amazingly effective Fred Flintstone Diet. Here's a sample menu:

BREAKFAST: Eat a breakfast of cereals rich in fiber and complex carbohydrates. Choose bran-processed cereals like Raisin Bran, Grapenuts or oatmeal, adding skim milk and raisins for natural sweetening. A glass of unsweetened orange juice provides Vitamin C.

LUNCH: Toss up a salad made of fresh vegetables like lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, carrots, radishes, celery, parsley and chives. Dress it with lemon juice or diluted vinegar and herbs such as oregano, sage, thyme and pepper. "Don't add your favorite high-fat salad dressing," Dr. Hardrese says. "And don't add cheese or ham because you'll be adding extra calories if you do."

DINNER: Have a simple breast of chicken or turkey with skin removed, or a slice of fish. Or make a Flintstone Fricassee out of lean meat stewed with frozen peas, carrots, corn, onions, parsley, potatoes or whole brown rice.

SNACKS: Between meals, nibble on grapefruit, oranges, tangerines, radishes, carrots, celery or unbuttered popcorn. Strawberries or other berries are excellent as well.

YABA-DABA-DO! Fred Flintstone's healthy diet is high in fiber and rich in vitamins.

"Nuts make a good snack because they contain natural fats — but you have to buy them shelled and crack them yourself like the caveman did," Dr. Hardrese says. "If you have to put some effort into opening them up, you'll eat a lot less of them in the long run."

BEVERAGES: Drink diet sodas, diluted fruit juices, and skim milk for calcium.

Hit-and-run driver discovers his victim was his twin!

LISBON, Portugal — A hit-and-run driver who killed a pedestrian, surrendered to police — after he learned that the man he killed was his twin brother!

"God is punishing me for the terrible thing that I did," 28-year-old Jose Vegas told Weekly World News in an exclusive interview in the city jail here. "I didn't know I hit my own brother and left him to die in the road.

"I know I should have stopped, no matter who it was. What I did was a terrible thing. But I got scared. I panicked. All I could think of was to get away as fast as I could.

"I drove to a friend's home in Setúbal, about 40 miles east of here. The next day, I called Jorge to tell him where I was. His wife Anna answered the telephone. She told me that Jorge had been killed by a hit-and-run driver.

"When I heard that, I almost collapsed. I realized at once that the man I had left to die in the road had been the one person I love more than anyone else on Earth . . . my own brother.

"I cried for hours. I thought that I must kill myself to pay for my sin. But I can't do that. I must live to make sure Jorge's wife and children are cared for. I will devote my life to their well-being, just as Jorge would have done. That is my penance."

Jose, a bachelor, returned to Lisbon that day and surrendered himself to police. He is charged with reckless homicide and leaving the scene of a fatal accident. A trial date hasn't yet been set, but he is currently free on bond.

"If he hadn't turned himself in, he'd have gotten away scot-free," declared Police Captain Antonio Reis. "We had absolutely no clues. A broken heart solved the mystery for us."

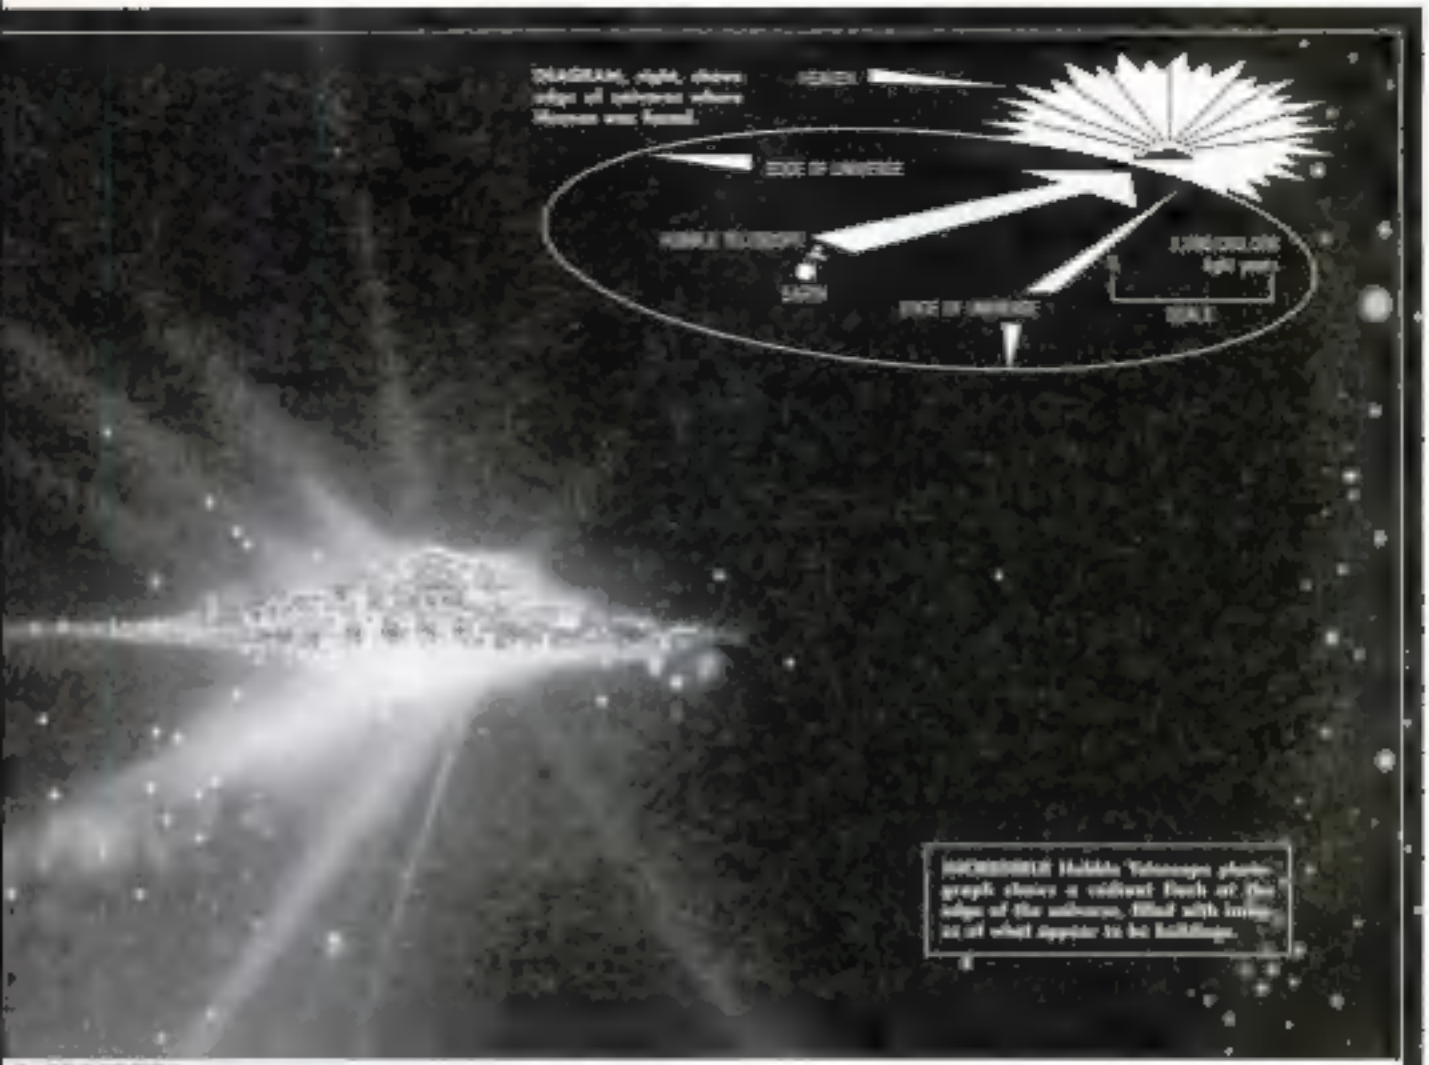
HUBBLE TELESCOPE TAKES PHOTO OF HEAVEN

POPE JOHN PAUL II has requested copies of the Hubble Telescope photographs.

Incredible image beamed to NASA on December 26!



By RON KINTON
Special to the Herald

WASHINGTON — Just days after space shuttle astronauts repaired the Hubble Space Telescope in mid-December, the giant lens focused on a star cluster at the edge of the universe — and photographed Heaven!

That's the word from author and researcher Marvin Masson, who quoted highly placed NASA insiders as having said that the telescope zoomed hundreds of photos back to the command center at Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., on December 26.

The pictures clearly show a vast white city floating gently in the blackness of space.

And the priest, quoted the city is definitely Heaven. "Because life as we know it couldn't possibly exist in the vacuum of outer space.

"This is it — this is the proof we've been waiting for," Dr. Masson told reporters.

"Through an enormous stroke of luck, NASA aimed the Hubble Telescope at precisely the right place at precisely the right time to capture these images on film. I'm not particularly religious, but I don't doubt that somebody or something influenced things at that particular area of space.

"Was that someone or something God Himself?" Given the vastness of the universe, and all the places NASA could have targeted for study, that would certainly appear to be the case."

Dr. Masson

NASA spokesmen declined to comment on the author's report "pending further analysis of the photographs received on December 26."

In spite of official silence, agency insiders conceded that NASA "has discovered something that might alter the future of all mankind."

They also confirmed that President Bill Clinton and Vice President Al Gore have taken a personal interest in the photographs and have requested daily briefings. Dr. Masson said, "The Hubble Space Telescope was designed to photograph images as far away on the edge of the universe but a lens flaw prevented it from doing so until shuttle astronauts corrected the defect during a recent mission.

"When they finished their work, the telescope trained its enormous glass eye on the outer reaches of the universe.

"From what I understand, the first images it received were nothing more than television screens at color and light.

"As adjustments were made, and the focus sharpened, NASA analysts couldn't believe their eyes.

"After checking and rechecking the data, they concluded that the pictures were authentic. They also determined that the city couldn't possibly be inhabited by life as we know it.

"The only logical explanation was that the city was inhabited by the souls of the dead. As one of my sources put it, 'We found where God lives.'"

It has been rumored that the space agency has forwarded photographs to Pope John Paul II at his request, but Vatican sources will neither confirm nor deny it.

Dr. Masson, who claimed copies of a single photograph from per NASA sources, says the space agency's next move "will be most revealing."

"This is a chance for NASA to come clean with the public and tell us once

New Russian boss vows: 'I'll turn Alaska into a concentration camp!'

By LISA MIRAKIS / Correspondent

Russkie rabble-rouser Vladimir Zhirinovsky wants to take Alaska back from the Americans — so he can turn it into a giant concentration camp!

The arch-conservative politician has been huddling with powerful cronies for the past month hatching secret plans to build an enormous holding area for every wrongthinker, loon, lunatic and crank in his country.

"It'll be the new Siberia," said Ivan Andreyev, a spokesman for Zhirinovsky's reactionary group. "We will use it to contain millions of anticommunist men and women and the disloyal, unpatriotic Russians who oppose Zhirinovsky's policies."

"We're going to use Stalin's excellent methods of political control when we come to power and this reeducation camp will be an important part of our policies.

"But we will have a larger population to deal with than Stalin did. That's why we need Alaska."

The reactionaries are demanding the return of Alaska to Russia on the grounds that Russians discovered and claimed the snow covered land in 1741. They say that the Russian Imperial family which sold it to the Americans in 1867, had no right to dispose of Russian territory.

"The Czar swindled himself at the expense of his own people and we want to pay it back that the people are repaid," said Andreyev. "Alaska was a perfectly wonderful land, a source of furs and gold. When the Czar sold it, he robbed us."

"The Americans paid only $7,200,000 for our land.

"That wasn't a fraction of what it is really worth.

"We want it back . . . or we want the Americans to pay us a fair price — say one billion or about $100,000 a square mile."

POWER-CRAZED Vladimir Zhirinovsky plans to take back Alaska from the U.S.

Alaska demand is part of a master plan created by right-wing extremist Zhirinovsky who won enormous support among Russians in the recent parliamentary elections.

The Russian conservative knows that without an immediate infusion of cash, his country's fragile economy could collapse at any time. He's selling the Alaska plan as a way to bring new riches into Russian coffers.

By demanding that the United States return Alaska, he's offering Americans a way out of their problems and taking a strong stand against a traditional enemy at the same time.

And he's getting 500,000 square miles of land for his concentration camp project.

"Make no mistake, we are considering using our military powers to get Alaska," said Andreyev. "If the Americans think that their false claims to that land are valid, they must be ready to accept the consequences.

"Once Mr. Zhirinovsky is in charge of the Russian government we mean to get back what is rightfully ours."

ALASKA will be turned into a giant Holding Tank for Russian troops

DEVIL OR ANGEL?

Half of all Brits say Princess Di is a demon from Hell

WORLD'S most admired woman — with her halo tarnished

Is the Princess of Wales a devil or an angel? An exclusive poll taken in Great Britain reveals that half of those asked believe Diana's a devil. Only 30 percent thought she was angelic

Professional lie watchers are also divided on the touchy question. "Diana is certainly as caring as a fox," says Nina Benson, gossip columnist for the London Daily Express. "Her departure from the body of the Royal Family has not been accompanied by any lowering of profile. She has shown no inclination to shed the mantle of privilege which she acquired by marrying the man she now professes to despise."

But Anthony Holden, a Royal Family biographer, thinks Di is on the side of the angels. "Diana's valued to Great Britain, as loyal as the monarchy ourselves, is her determination not to raise any more such blindered emotional cripples," says Holden. The blindered cripple he is talking about is Prince Charles, Diana's estranged hubby.

The weakest rumor of the year — Michael Jordan will be the next James Bond. "You would make a great Bond," gushed Larry King on his CNN talk show. "Would I have to kiss all the women?" wondered Air Jordan.

Top columnist Bob Greene says Michael meeting the five big requirements of the role:

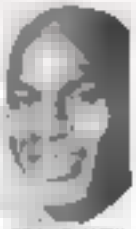
1. Sophistication. "You ever see Jordan looking anything but elegant? You ever see a guy who wears an expensive suit better?"

2. Heroism. "That's been his job for all his adult life."

3. Athleticism in performing difficult stunts. "Case closed."

4. Sense of humor. "Who'd you expect, Elmer Fudd?"

5. Grace under pressure. "Ask the New York Knicks."



BRAND NEW James Bond? Air Jordan

Greene figures that this is not only the answer to Jordan's problem — where to find a challenge — but also the solution to one of Hollywood's biggest quandaries. How to bring the Bond movies back to life?

"Imagine the first scene in the next James Bond movie," says Greene.

"A man, wearing a white dinner jacket, has his back turned toward us. A beautiful woman approaches, looks twice at him, and then asks with his name.

"And Jordan turns around, flashes that smile, and says in a mild-Carolina accent: 'Bond. James Bond.'"

You can click unpleasant thoughts off like a bad TV show, restoring a sense of calm and optimism, an expert says — just by following a few simple tips.

HOW TO [redacted] NEGATIVE THOUGHTS — FOREVER!

"These techniques will work on any unpleasant thought that crops up," says psychiatrist Samuel Turner. "It could be something that pops into your head once or twice. It doesn't have to be a thought you're obsessed with.

"I'd suggest these techniques the instant you're jolted by an unpleasant thought, picking up your spirits any time you suspect you want to rid yourself of an unpleasant thought."

First, says Dr. Turner, when you're bothered by an unpleasant thought, say, "Stop." Then think of something pleasant. Conjure up a picture of yourself lying on a sunny beach, for example, or strolling through cool woods.

"Another way you can rid yourself of an unpleasant thought," says Dr. Turner, "is to do something that requires concentration. It might be going shopping. Maybe it's swimming or engaging in a conversation. It might be doing needlepoint or playing ball."

Deep breathing is also a good way of defeating an unpleasant thought, according to Dr. Turner. Nightly at quietly and breathe in and out very deeply and very slowly. Focus your attention on how relaxed this can make you feel.

"It is a very effective way of short-circuiting tension that is created by bad thoughts," the psychiatrist explains.

Another way to get rid of unpleasant thoughts is to snap a rubber band, worn around your wrist, whenever the thought occurs.

"This is a distracting stimulus. It will stun you to change your thoughts," he says.

"I've seen patients use these techniques successfully. By using them yourself, you're bound to develop a more powerful attitude."

Zombie denied Social Security — because he's dead!

GOVERNMENT bureaucrats say Jacques Orneuve is not eligible for Social Security

By LISA MERAKIS / Correspondent

MIAMI — Haitian immigrant Jacques Orneuve is filing a discrimination suit against the U.S. government claiming he was unjustly denied Social Security benefits — simply because he is a zombie!

The man says officials told him that he is dead and is therefore not eligible for government benefits. But Ornesive, who arrived in the U.S. from Port au Prince 13 years ago, says he has a right to collect just like anybody else.

"I'm not dead – I'm the living dead," says the dark-haired immigrant. "There's a big difference. They treat me like I don't exist.

"But the Social Security guys say their hands are tied. They sent for my records from Haiti and they show I died in 1978. On the basis of that they say they don't owe me a dime.

"I think this is outrageous considering that I came to this country in good faith and worked hard as a laborer for more than 13 years and they took out Social Security all that time. But they say they've never had a zombie try to collect before and they don't know what to do."

Ornesive's bizarre claims came to light during a meeting of Haitian leaders at a local church. The man – who appears healthy — stood up and loudly complained about his troubles with the government. His comments later appeared in a church publication, leading to a number of offers from local lawyers willing to help him.

According to local accounts, Ornesive lived in Haiti's capital all his life. Records there show that he died in 1978 at the age of 31, but friends and relatives swear he was brought back as a zombie as a voodoo ceremony several days after he passed away.

Ornesive and his lawyer were among a group of was injured and could no longer do his job, he filed for Social Security benefits.

A few weeks later, he got a call from a government clerk informing him he was ineligible for assistance because he was dead.

"That's outrageous," Ornesive says through a translator. "I died, yes — but I'm alive! How am I supposed to survive? I can't work. I need help. I've been employed for years in this country and I have a right to benefits."

Ornesive said his son says they are planning on hiring an attorney to force the government to change the way it but that shouldn't keep them from obeying the law," Ornesive said.

"They're discriminating against me because of my religion and my physical condition. It's got to stop."

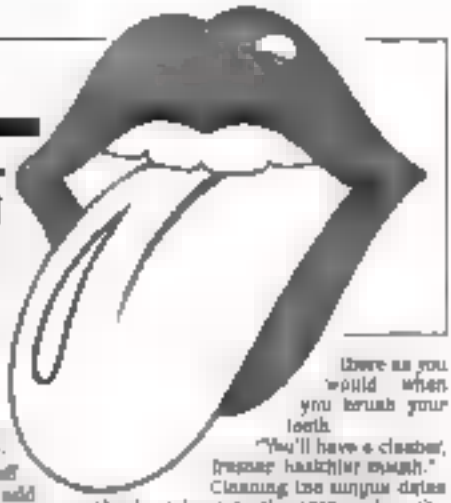
Banish cavities forever — by brushing your tongue!



By DAVE BALLARD / Correspondent

You can have a fresher, healthier mouth and banish cavities for good if you follow this helpful advice:

When you brush your teeth — brush your tongue, too!

"Tongue brushing will cut down tenfold the bacteria stored in your mouth," said an expert in dental hygiene, explaining that the tongue is a reservoir of bacteria that causes tooth decay and bad breath.

"These bacteria form little residues in the crevices of the tongue and float off to nest in your teeth," he added. "They must be scrubbed off the tongue because they are not removed with mouthwash."

If you only brush your teeth, you're not getting to a major source of bacteria in the mouth — the tongue."

"That is why I suggest you brush your tongue whenever you brush your teeth," he explained. "Put toothpaste on your brush, stick out your tongue and brush a vigorous eight to 10 times over the tongue. Rinse as you would when you brush your teeth.

"You'll have a cleaner, fresher, healthier mouth."

Cleaning the tongue dates back at least to the 1700s, when the upper classes of Europe used silver tongue scrapers.

World's smallest violin fits inside a matchbox!

The world's smallest playable violin measures a scant three inches long and one inch wide and is tiny enough to fit into a matchbox!

The teensy instrument has two strings and comes in its own matchstick-sized, sheep-lined case.

It was made by Swiss violin-maker Conrad Schneider in 16 hours and is valued at about $4,000.

Schneider completed the miniature last year, and to celebrate his accomplishment, he played it with a bow to show the size of the instrument.

Suicide shocker!

MEXICO CITY — Dim at the most dramatic survivors on record was that of plastic mechanic Pedro Mendez, who leaped himself to the wheel of a speeding bus to avoid a head-on collision.

Mendez, 28, was driving his bus at 50 mph when a car suddenly swerved into his lane, heading straight for him.

Instead of slamming on the brakes, Mendez jumped out of the driver's seat and grabbed the steering wheel, steering the bus around the car.

He then jumped back into the driver's seat and regained control of the bus, which had veered off the road and was heading for a ditch.

Mendez suffered only minor injuries in the accident, which occurred Tuesday on a highway outside Mexico City, police said.

Ed Anger's shocking new plan to get criminals off our streets!

I'm madder than Gennifer Flowers on Bill and Hillary's wedding anniversary over a brand-new crime statistic I just read.

Folks, did you know that a sad over 90 percent of all people arrested for crimes are guilty as sin?

You know what this means? It means that this great nation is wasting about $500 billion a year on judges, juries and trials, that's what.

Let's face it. Back when the Founding Fathers set up the rules for running America, occasionally the cops would arrest an innocent person. That's why Ben Franklin and Tom Jefferson made sure everybody had a right to a fast trial by a jury of their peers.

But police weren't nearly as well trained back in the 1770s, so it was only natural that they'd nab the wrong guy now and then. This is 1994, though, and the average beat cop knows more about the law than our Supreme Court judges did 200 years ago!

When today's state-of-the art cop makes an arrest, there's no need to waste a lot of time on formalities because we can be darn sure the creep is guilty.

So I've come up with a great new plan for shaping the system up — still shaping it up, pronto.

Of course, all those scheming shyster lawyers out there who make a juicy living by getting criminals off scot free are going to scream bloody murder. And those liberal judges who rake in millions playing God in the courtroom aren't going to be jumping up and down with joy, either.

Under the Ed Anger Criminal Justice Revenge Plan, police officers would be allowed to arrest someone and hold a make-believe trial there on the spot — very similar to that TV show "The People's Court" where Judge Wapner deals out justice fast and furious.

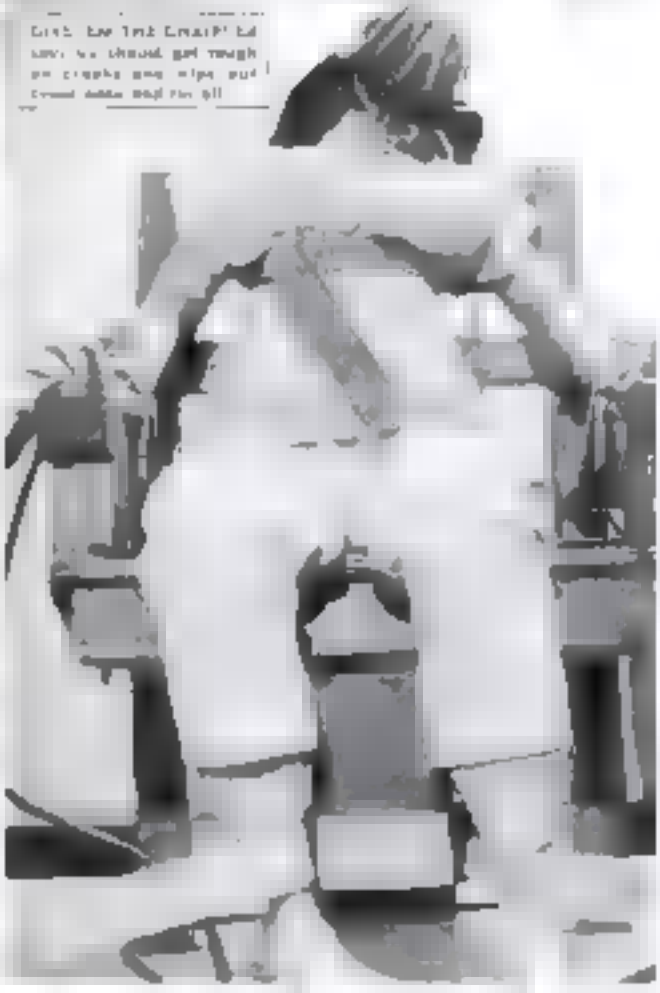
At the end of the trial, the cops would have a easy-to-read sentencing chart. These crime and punishment charts would list things like Shoplifting First offense — 2 years in jail. Second offense — 5 years in jail and so on.

There would even be a section for capital crimes like murder and rape. The cop would simply choose the number of executions and take the criminal to a special facility equipped for hanging, electrocuting, a firing squad, gas chamber, lethal injection, or whatever method is most popular at the moment.

Capital punishment could be executed within 24 hours without a lot of yackety-yak from lawyers, judges and other do-gooders, by gum.

Eventually, we might even install space age electric thing dying by the chairs in the backyard of everyneighborhood. The message to all lefty-liberals and the American are mad as hell and they aren't going to take it anymore.

Criminal scum have this coming to them. Let's give 'em what they deserve!



ED'S CRIME POLL

YES ☐

I agree with Ed that we should get tough on criminals — and stop wasting money on long, boring trials.

NO ☐

I think we should blow more tax money having trials for criminals — or let 'em go free.

Songs Of God & Country

A history-making collection

They have sung the praises of [illegible] they have sung the praises of our nation. They have lifted their voices in song to the glory of God and country ever since their wagon trains pulled up to the Great Salt Lake in the year 1847.

They are The Mormon Tabernacle Choir... and that once-upon-a-time tiny choir is now recognized as one of the greatest musical forces in America's history. The Mormon Tabernacle Choir is today a battalion size force of 325 glorious voices...a choir which, when it raises its voices as one mighty sound, can bring tears to your eyes, goose bumps to your skin, and spirit to your [illegible].

A historic 2-part collection has just been released of their [illegible] performances [illegible] compact discs and [illegible] first is called Faith Of Our Fathers. And it was truly their faith which got us here, and it was many of these songs and hymns of praise which they brought westward as they crossed the great divide. Here is the Mormon Choir singing the same songs many of their mothers and dads sang in the very same way...in the very same choir. And when people try to tell you that we are on the brink of losing our values in America, our traditions, just play them a few selections from this stunning treasury. Play them A Mighty Fortress Is Our God, or Rock Of Ages, and The Lord Is My Shepherd...thrill to the glory of Onward, Christian Soldiers and just feel yourself wanting to march onward indeed!

These are the songs, the hymns, the prayers set to music, which have kept us together, and will continue to do so. And here they are sung by the very choir which most choirs around our entire nation hold up as their model, the one which sets the standard for American vocal music world wide.

If you have never heard the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, you are in for the treat of a lifetime!

America In Song

The second album in this collection contains the wonderful music from the very roots of our great country, and sings of its beauty, its meaning to all of us. From America The Beautiful, [illegible]-touching Aura Lee. They sing This Is My Country with their heads held high. There is the rhythmic and hypnotic Ring The Banjo, the [illegible] beautiful Home On The Range, and Stephen Foster's immortal Beautiful Dreamer, the glorious and moving Shenandoah, and the most patriotic song ever written, The Battle Hymn Of The Republic. Enjoy both of [illegible]

Loving her was easy — until she took off her clothes!

Confidential!

Dear Furious Girl in Tucson: I agree with your mother 200 percent. If the Good Lord wanted you to have a tattoo, He would have brought you into the world with a battleship on your chest!

Dear Shellshocked in Detroit: I hate guns, too — but that doesn't keep me from packing everywhere I go!

Dear Mystified in Eugene: Why anybody would go ga-ga for a washed-up dood like Joe Montana is a mystery to me.

Dear Disappointed Guy in Athens: For God's sake, man — the gal's wearing a mesh bra-ve!

Dear Scared in Amarillo: The only thing I'm scared of is getting stuck in an elevator with a dance like you!

Dear Stunned in Lindsay: What did you expect to find in a topless bar — Lawrence Welk?

Dear Lonely in Eddy: Mike if you haven't found a mate by the age of 31, it's too late!

Dear Dotti: A few months ago I fell head over heels in love with a gal I work with and our relationship was pure heaven. As time went on, and we got more and more serious, we decided to sleep together.

I can't begin to tell you how excited I was until we got to the bedroom and took off our clothes. To my utter shock, my girlfriend turned out to be a man! I was utterly revolted and ran the hell out of my house. Now I get sick to my stomach thinking about our little affair and can't help but wonder if I'll ever trust a lover again. What do you think about all this? — Duped in Cramerton

Dear Duped: I could say a lot of things about your situation but I'll keep it short and sweet. Anyone who can't tell the difference between a man and a woman after months of dating deserves what he gets!

Dotti, you aren't pretty enough to be a hooker!

Dear Dotti: You are the rudest frunk alive! You talk with that big fat mouth of yours and tell everybody how rich and pretty you are. Well, I have got a fact that you're poor and ugly. You'd like to be a hooker but you aren't pretty enough! — Enemy in Mooresville

Dear Enemy: Say, I know why your mother calls you "Buttface!"

Why does a good-looking hunk like me ugly girl?

Dear Dotti: Help me please! I really like this girl but he's almost as big a friend, she is as ugly as they come. She wears braces, weighs 11 pounds and looks like a monkey. On the other hand, I'm pretty — and the guy is a hunk. So why does he like her and shun me? — Confused in Detroit

Dear Confused: Maybe she's rich.

I left my bicycle tire tracks on an old lady's back!

Dear Dotti: Last week I was out riding my bicycle when I ran into an old woman and knocked her down. She was at least 60. And since I was in front, I kept on pedaling and didn't look back. Now I'm feeling guilty about it. Tell me what to do — and please don't use my name! — Steiner Skiwog in Norway

Dear Skiwog: In case you didn't know it, running the risk of an accident with injuries is a crime punishable by law. Fortunately, you included your return address — which I forwarded to the police along with the confession in your letter!

Stupid hubby says gals are only good for cooking & sex!

Dear Dotti: My husband says women are only good for cooking, sex and a good time and that really rents my hair. I think men and women are equal. What do you think? — Woman in Idaho Falls

Dear Woman: Some women are good for more than cooking, sex and a good time, but you're DEFINITELY one of the latter!

Dotti will answer your letters — and tell it like it is. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, P.O. Box 80562, Dallas, Texas 75380.

Ask Serena

Is my body possessed by Leonardo da Vinci?

Dear Serena: I am a 57-year-old woman and during the past few weeks I have discovered I have a tremendous painting ability. I had never even held a brush before last month when I had a sudden urge to start painting. Now I paint every day and everyone says I should open my own art gallery.

Serena, how did this happen? My sister says my body has become possessed by a famous artist like Leonardo da Vinci and I'm beginning to believe she might be right. What do you think? — Artistic in Hillsborough.

Dear Artistic: You indeed have been possessed by a very talented artist but not one who was famous. His name was Arturo DeCroux and he lived poor and he never had a chance to display his work. I want the rest of your work. Sincerely, Leonardo.

wonderful sons but no daughters. I'm 37 years old and would like to have a baby girl but I worry that if I get pregnant I'll have another boy. Don't get me wrong — I love all my sons but I don't want to go through another pregnancy if I'm not going to have a girl. What should I do? — Undecided in Warfield.

Dear Undecided: You will get pregnant later this month and have a baby girl — and a boy! They will be perfectly healthy, cute babies. By the way, don't expect your little girl to want to dress up in lace and will even get a college basketball scholarship.

PERSONAL TO . . .

College virgin in Los Angeles: You should be proud of your high standards. I think you are a wonderful young man.

Forgetful in Altoona: Your anniversary is March 8. Your wife has her heart set on a dance class.

Serious in Billings: The Dallas Cowboys in the year 2000. I look forward to seeing you play.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIE
ALIVE IN TE

'They are still fighting the Civil W

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — There are increasing reports that a ragtag band of Confederate soldiers still roams the rugged Appalachian Mountains of eastern Tennessee — refusing to believe the Civil War ended 129 years ago.

"They look like something out of a time machine with their muskets, musket balls, beards and tattered grey uniforms," said Dr. Wayne Schroeder, a tourist who was held prisoner for several hours because the armed rebels thought he was a Yankee spy.

"When I mentioned that General Lee had surrendered at Appomattox Courthouse in 1865, I thought they were going to shit my thread. Damn they were mad."

Dr. Schroeder, a surgeon from Rhode Island, is one of at least a dozen tourists who have seen the die-hard soldiers, claiming to be still under the command of General Nathan Bedford Forrest.

Forrest was a brilliant soldier who commanded the cavalry in General John Bell Hood's Tennessee campaign.

He surrendered in April, 1865 and died 13 years later at the age of 56.

"They seem to be stuck in a time warp with no knowledge of anything that's happened in the world in more than a century," said an Atlanta businessman who claims to have confronted the beleaguered band near Ramsey Falls in December.

Weekly World News has learned that at least 50 other people including a Baptist preacher from Chattanooga and his wife have seen the diehard rebel soldiers within the last six years.

"They are absolutely filthy and live like wild animals eating all kinds of wild game and drinking out of mountain springs," Dr. Schroeder explained.

"They said General Forrest ordered them to the hills ground up in the mountains, and that's where they are going to stay until said otherwise."

Dr. Schroeder took their picture, but the sergeant in command confiscated his camera.

Park Rangers and other Tennessee park officials declined to comment on the reports, but a leading psychiatrist said the many sightings of the Confederate soldiers suggests that we are dealing with something supernatural — specifically, a time warp.

"I have talked to some of the people who claim to have seen the soldiers. They are intelligent and very credible people and I believe them.

"You will recall that wounded Civil War private Benjamin Church, was found living beside a Georgia cotton mill that threw yarns spun the psychiatrist said.

"He had traveled to the century through a time warp enlisted during the Battle Gettysburg on 1863. I think that also explains the existence of the rebel band."

I can tell you the exact day you'll die

PATERSON, N.J. — A statistician can pinpoint, with chilling accuracy, the exact day of the week you're going to die.

Dr Henry Whiteside, an actuarial consultant, has an amazing 78 percent success rate in predicting the day a person will die. That means he's right almost eight times out of ten.

"If you know what day of the week you were born, I've worked out a simple chart that will show you the day you're most likely to expire," he says.

Dr. Whiteside, 44, spent 15 years compiling statistics for a profoundly bizarre life insurance company, and says that his most amazing discovery was that there is a clear and definite link between the day of our birth and the day of our death.

"In my research I noticed an odd thing: statistic. Most Americans die on Monday, usually in the morning. They die of a variety of causes in a variety of ways but Monday is the day.

"It made me curious so I dug deeper and discovered that most people are born on Friday.

"The next part was simple. I took the records of 1,000 people who died on Monday and looked up the day of their birth. Almost 50 percent of them were born on Friday."

From there, Dr. Whiteside looked at the birth and death days of another 5,000 people and found there was a clear-cut correlation.

"Not everyone wants to know what day they'll die," says the trained social analyst. "But knowing your at risk day can help you plan your week.

"For example, if you have some-ing the week, you'll be able to avoid scheduling it on your 'death day.'

"On the other hand, knowing that your potential for tragedy is high on a certain day can allow you to take it easy and lower your odds of accident or illness."

HOW TO BOOST YOUR MAN'S EGO WITH A PACK OF LIES!

The way to a man's heart is through his ego — not his stomach, says a top psychiatrist.

"Men crave flattery," said Dr. Mark Rubinstein. "It's easier to get men to believe compliments than women."

Dr. Rubinstein offered these tips on flattering a man.

● Sexuality. "Tell him he's good or great in bed," he said. "That's the greatest compliment you can give most men."

● Physical. "Tell him he's strong or masculine," Dr. Rubinstein said. "Or tell him what a great body he has — specific compliments that imply masculinity."

● Appearance. "Tell him how good looking he is," the doctor said. "Or pick out one feature such as his eyes. But don't call him cute — most men think it's reserved for women and puppies."

● Sensual. "Tell him you love the sound of his voice," Dr. Rubinstein said. "Or that you like the way he smells, the feel of his skin or the color of his eyes."

● Occupation. "Flatter his job abilities," the expert said. "Tell him that he's good at his job and that his job must be exciting."

● Husband & Father. "Say he is the greatest husband a woman could ever have," he said. "Tell him he's great with the kids or that it's wonderful that why he grew up he weekends to be with the family."

● Intelligence. "Flatter his intelligence," Dr. Rubinstein said. "This is always safe because even people who aren't intelligent think they are."

● Dress & Grooming. "Say his suits always look good on him," the psychiatrist said. "Or that he looks like Mel Gibson."

SIAMESE TWINS ARE NEW YORK CITY DANCE CHAMPS!

Bobby Kraller [redacted] his brother Ed like to trip the light fantastic, dancing with their girlfriends into the wee hours of the morning — even though their bodies are joined at the back!

The 46-year-old Siamese twins ha[redacted] winning dance contests around their hometown of New York City since they [redacted] in their teens.

Every Saturday night they make the rounds of nightclubs with a pretty gal on their arms and [redacted]galom around the dance floor until their shoes wear out.

"We don't let our physical problems get in our way," says Bobby, who co-owns a florist shop with his brother. "We figure we only have one life to live and we want to have as much fun as we can.

"We've been dancing together for years now, so we don't have any problem coordinating. We just get into the music and let ourselves go."

Bobby and Ed are attached at the lower spine and they share several vital internal organs. When they were born in 1948 doctors decided they could not be separated, so the twins have remained joined back to back all their lives.

But although their handicap draws stares and comments from strangers, the outgoing twins have not let it get in their way.

They have devised a crab-like way of walking in which one twin moves forward while the other goes backward and they go to work, shop and carry on like normal folks in spite of their physical problems.

The friendly brothers are popular in their neighborhood and have never had any problems finding dates. It was at their high school prom that they first got up the courage to take a spin around the dance floor — and they've been hooked on dancing ever since.

BROTHERS Ed, left, and Bobby Kraller have perfected their fancy dance moves

by BEATRICE DEXTER
Correspondent

"It's a great way to meet people and it's good for us," says Ed, the more talkative of the two. "Let's face it, jogging and playing tennis just don't appeal to us, so dancing is a great way to get exercise. We have got to be so that we are fairly supple.

"I know just what steps Bobby is going to take and he knows what I'm going to do, so we can coordinate our movements automatically.

"What's really great is that our sweethearts have as much fun as we do. We can always get gals to go out with us because they love to be on the best dancers around."

The twins are well known contests and brighten the New York area — and they even have a club of 32 admiring fans who follow them from contest to contest, cheering them on as they rumba, cha-cha waltz, foxtrot and boogie their way to the top.

"Sure, they're funny looking the first time you see them," says one fan, who so fantastic that after a while you just forget all about the fact that they're Siamese twins.

"And the steps they've invented on that they can go through the moves are totally unique. It's no wonder they win all these contests. There's nothing else like them in the world of dance."

By MARILYN WELLMAN
ASTROLOGER TO THE RICH AND FAMOUS

For the week of Mon., Jan. 31 — Sun., Feb. 6

ARIES
Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Get your act together!

If unfinished business has been giving you sleepless nights, work out whether or not it's worth the aggravation to continue with it.

You're capable of making the right decision and you know it deep in your heart. Stick with what you decide.

A loved one is feeling confused. Think twice about getting involved. Advice could backfire.

TAURUS
Apr. 20-May 20

Don't miss the boat!

Everyone seems to think the time is right for expansion, so really consider going along with the pack. All signs point toward successful growth for you.

Although your money problems soon could seem history, distractions keep up to date on anything concerning finances.

You have more and more power in the area of romance!

GEMINI
May 21-June 20

Keep those eyes open!

You have a chance to multiply your money this week. Since this might be a one-time opportunity, don't let it slide by.

Keep in mind that actions do speak louder than words. Close relationships don't just happen, as AFT like you realize just how important your loved ones are.

Your heart's desire will come true — wow!

CANCER
June 21-July 22

You're impressive!

This promises to be a week when your support an others gets noticed. Just don't let it go to your head!

Work on showing more concern toward a loved one's problems. You like being right, but it's probably best not to come on too strongly about it right now.

Good luck to yours in money matters!

LEO
July 23-Aug. 22

You're extremely self-confident!

And you should be. Let all who know you see that you're interested in taking on more. You won't be disappointed — nor will they!

Relationships are stirred up. It isn't anything you can't handle. Remember to be kind as no one gets hurt. All will quiet down soon.

Hold on to your money tightly. Now is a time to save — not spend! Make clearer plans for the future.

VIRGO
Aug. 23-Sept. 22

No monkey business!

Make sure your behavior is beyond reproach this week. Suppose is looking you over — and their opinion will matter!

Lend a hand to someone who is doing less well than you are. This could be the beginning of a relationship that really works.

If you've been indulging in an all-work and no-play attitude toward life, get with the program!

LIBRA
Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Sell yourself and your ideas!

Whatever you do this week will meet with success. The backing and help you may want will appear when the need is clear.

This is a week to gamble a little, but don't wager blindly. Just indulge in a small way.

Romance is highlighted. Isn't it time to plan something with a loved one? How about an intimate evening alone? Enjoy yourself!

SCORPIO
Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Take pride in what you do!

Don't let anyone get you down. Your path may be a little rockier than usual this week, but work around the tough spots — as only you know how. New markets for your talents open up soon.

An unusual social event may happen this week, and if it does, you're going to have a good time.

Romance is in the air! Do something about it!

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Make something of yourself!

Now is the time to change everything in the way you want it.

Although you like to go it alone, it would be a good idea to ask for help whenever you even think it might be useful.

A happy experience will soon enrich your personal life. It's time to cement those all important family relationships.

Love is in the air!

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22-Jan. 19

You're filled with excitement!

There are good reasons for it, too. Past efforts are all coming together just as you planned. There's more money in the kitty than usual. Have some fun with it or buy yourself a well-deserved present. Break out of your shell!

Love may take you for the ride of your life. Think carefully before you commit to a long-term trip, though!

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Odds are in your favor!

Don't hold back on a gamble that will pay off just as you'd always dreamed one would. In fact, someone who usually disagrees with your decisions may well go overboard in going along with you! Play it by ear — but play it!

A special person in your life may seem to be acting spiteful. It's not deliberate. They should give in.

PISCES
Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Play referee!

You're asked to get into the middle of a disagreement and make peace. Keep an open mind, listen to everyone, and make a decision.

Welcome recognition comes from an unexpected — and loving — source. It's just what you've been waiting for.

Make sacrifices for future profit. Offer yourself willingly, and

If your birthday is this week . . .

Mon., Jan. 31 — Sun., Feb. 6

No more sitting back and letting life come to you. This is your year to really get involved.

Make plans for your future and make it what you want it to be. There are several open paths. Explore all the possibilities before making a decision.

Feel free and happy. Be ready to give your all in a good relationship. Your attractiveness is truly enhanced.

No. 1 problem facing women in the 90s

HOW TO STOP SEXUAL HARASSMENT ON THE JOB!

By MELISSA JAMES Correspondent

Millions of American women experience sexual harassment on the job — but they can deal with this serious problem by following some commonsense advice, a leading expert reports.

"Sexual harassment happens to women regardless of age, race economic background or title," said Susan Meyer, an expert on sexual harassment in the workplace. "We define it as any unwanted attention of a sexual nature in the workplace. This can range from leering and telling obscene jokes to making comments about a woman's body and actual physical touching and demands.

"Sexual harassment puts women in intolerable working condition. For years women have tried to ignore it, never able it or have just left their jobs. But you shouldn't have to leave your job to escape it. Realize that what you are suffering is not fair, a form of discrimination which is totally unlawful."

Here's how women can fight back against inherent supervisors:

● Let the offender know as carefully as possible that you don't like his attention. "It's important not to just sit there and take it because the man may misinterpret your silence as interpreting his behavior," said Meyer. "Make your complaint on him short and to the point.

"You might tell him that his attention is seriously interfering with your ability to do your work.

"Don't confront him when you are angry but do confront him as soon as you feel able to. Explain that you want to do a good job but are unable to as long as you are receiving that kind of attention."

● Keep a diary of all incidents. In case the offender tries to fire you. "Keep notes, dates what he said or did and what you said or did," advised Meyer. "This will give you the advantage if you have to take your case to court personally or in court."

● Formally complain to your firm's personnel office or grievance committee, even if you're sure it won't do any good. "If the case comes to court you want to be able to say that the company knew about it but took no action.

"Reporting it in this way may also let the offending man know you mean business and may embarrass him into leaving you alone."

● If you lose your job, file a complaint with your state human rights commission or the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. "It may help you get your job back, and will help others by documenting the problem," said Meyer.

Experts point out that the increasing number of sexual harassment court cases brought by women makes it easier for women to warn male offenders that what they are doing is illegal. If men know what they're doing could spell legal trouble, they may be less apt to continue the harassment.

Drinking doesn't kill your brain cells!

An astounding new study proves it beyond the shadow of a doubt: heavy drinking doesn't destroy brain cells — it just temporarily disconnects them!

And that means people who suffer memory loss and impaired life after years of heavy drinking can get their minds and memories as soon as they go on the wagon.

Dr. Bente Pakkenberg is the Danish scientist who conducted the research. He said the findings "give hope" to chronic drinkers who seem to have suffered STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Swedish prison officials are turning vicious criminals into mild-mannered lambs — by getting them fat!

A new study by noted criminologist Gunnar Nilsson has shown that overweight people are 20 times less likely to commit violent crimes than slim people.

And what's more, overeating actually cures aggressive tendencies.

"This is the most astounding crime prevention discovery in history," says Dr. Nilsson.

"We may have solved the leading cause of violent crime. And we're able to treat it with the simplest medicine imaginable — food."

Dr. Nilsson studied 100 murderers, rapists and gang fighters at Sweden's Taresaun Prison and fed them up. They gained an average of 17 pounds.

Inventor of electronic housewife makes shocking claim...

New robot will make women obsolete by the year 2000!

HANNOVER, Germany — A top scientist has come up with the ultimate household convenience: An electronic housewife!

That's right, the high-tech inventor has perfected a robot woman called the FemmeAll that can clean, cook and even give birth to test-tube babies — meaning that women will be totally obsolete by the year 2000!

"It's a great triumph of scientific skill," said elated physicist and engineer Manfred Wurtzmann, who developed the remarkable robot. "This robot can duplicate every act of a living woman — and watch her in almost every single area.

"It was my aim to produce the perfect woman, and I have."

Dr Wurtzmann unveiled his creation at a trade conference on December 17. The electronic mannequin-like device is powered by special batteries that can be recharged at night by plugging into a normal electrical outlet. It looks exactly like a woman, with arms, legs, a human face and long black hair. The amazing appliance moves like a human, dusting, scrubbing, and doing laundry with ease. It can even talk like one, too. It is dressed in a short black uniform and dances in a feminine way when it walks on its shapely legs.

"It never talks back because it can't talk at all," brags Dr Wurtzmann, who admits he got the idea for his invention after his wife of three years divorced him. "It is quick to respond to its master's needs. It is quiet and efficient and it costs nothing to run.

"Originally I thought of it as just a household appliance. But when the FemmeAll was nearly done I decided it wouldn't be complete without the capacity to produce a human child. That's when I began working on getting it to incubate a human fetus."

The incredible robot is equipped with a special womb-like container that can supply oxygen and nutrients to a developing fetus. The human child must be created in a laboratory by fertilizing a donated egg with sperm. The fetus can then be inserted in the FemmeAll's reproduction chamber, where it will grow to maturity.

"I have tested the reproduction chamber with animal babies and it works perfectly," Dr Wurtzmann says. "I have no doubt it will work just as perfectly with human babies."

Wurtzmann says the FemmeAll "is quiet and efficient."

New scientific study proves...

TV IS GREAT FOR YOU

By KELLY FRANCES

TV really does relax you — it's been proved scientifically!

Expert Bill Harvey says that brain wave tests of thousands of viewers have shown that when they watched TV, their brain changed from the beta state, which is associated with active thinking, into the slower alpha state, which is linked to relaxation.

"Most of the time people are in the beta state and can't release stress," said Harvey. "When they come home, they're happy to see TV which produces more alpha waves and relaxes them.

"As soon as they start to watch TV, their brain waves slow down into the alpha state. But the viewers go back to the beta state when they see something thought provoking such as a man kissing a beautiful girl.

"Even so, the brain relaxes again ... Don't rule the alpha state," said Harvey.

"Alpha waves produce a relaxing effect — a pleasurable effect.

"Based on all the studies that I've seen and all the experts I've talked to, more than 10 000 subjects have had their brain waves monitored while viewing television. Researchers' reports an overall slowing down of brain waves to the alpha state during viewing as compared to non-viewing.

"If there was no TV and you were sitting and watching a fire in the fireplace you'd get increased alpha waves. Getting a massage increases alpha waves.

"In a similar way, TV massages your brain and relaxes you.

"TV lets you go to the alpha state because it keeps you totally busy so you can't think," said Harvey.

MAN GETS 5 YEARS — FOR MOONING SECURITY CAMERA!

HARSH? Lorenzo Chavez got 5 years hailing bare for baring his butt to a bank.

By RANDY KEPPERS | Correspondent

RIO NEGRO, Argentina — Fun loving cutup Lorenzo Chavez mooned the security cameras in a bank — and got five long years in prison.

"I was just trying to cheer people up," said Chavez, explaining why he pulled his pants down and showed his bare buttocks to surveillance cameras at one of South America's most conservative banks. "The lines were long and everyone was in a bad mood.

"I was trying to make everyone laugh. I guess I got a little carried away and thought it would be funny to moon the cameras. I admit it was a silly thing to do but I don't deserve this. They're taking away five years of my life. You can bet I'm going to appeal it."

Many who witnessed the morning were also shocked by the sentence.

"I thought he was really funny," says Maria Zamora, 31. "He started making faces at the cameras as if he was on TV. We were all laughing. When he mooned the camera I didn't [illegible] dirty, just silly. He doesn't deserve five years."

Chavez was convicted of indecent exposure and given the maximum sentence by Judge Carlos Munoz.

"Respect for law and order is breaking down in these times," said Judge Munoz.

"I hope this five-year sentence sends a message to other smart alecks who would mock society's standards of decency."

But Chavez's attorney, Diego Santos, called the judgment hostile and vindictive.

"When my client pleaded guilty, we expected that he would be put on probation and pay a small fine. Five years is insanely excessive."

Officials at El Gran Banco Nacional de Argentina are applauding the judge's decision.

"Chavez dishonored our fine institution," says bank president Raul DeJesus.

"Now he has a nice long time to think about how to conduct himself in civilized society."

Chavez has no criminal record and friends describe him as a good-natured man who wouldn't harm a fly.

FRENCH WANT TO BAN THE PHRASE 'GAY PAREE'

By JOE BERGER

Tirbed-off French officials want to banish the phrase "Gay Paree" from books, magazines and newspapers the world over — for fear foreigners will think Paris is a city of sissies.

"Paris is not the San Francisco of Europe ... we don't want people to think so," fumed Culture Minister [illegible].

"But every time ... we pick up ... of 'Gay Paree,' ... city full of ... up and down the ... and cooing and looking ... We can all see ... the homosexuals themselves think this is some kind of gay heaven, and they're starting to swarm here from the four corners of the earth. We've discussed it and the whole cabinet feels it's time to put a stop to this mess — and put a stop to it right now."

The indignant commissioner and his cronies admit that foreigners have fondly referred to Paris as "Gay Paree" for nearly a century — but they say the term has taken on a sleazy new meaning in recent years.

"Back in the heyday of the Folies Bergere writers around the world began calling this beautiful city 'Gay Paree' in recognition of our fabulous night life and the lighthearted air of our people," said ruffled mayor's assistant [illegible]. "But in recent years it's been used by the wrong people to describe the wrong things."

Nickname makes Paris sound like it's a city of sissies, say French bigwigs

EIFFEL TOWER draws millions of visitors to Paris every year. Officials are fighting to keep the image of the city from going down the tubes.

[illegible] Paris to potential tourists around the world. But now, Paree no longer refers to the Champs or is quite so gay. If you know what I mean."

Culture czar officials are launching a high-powered public relations campaign aimed at persuading writers, editors and publishers to avoid the hateful

'Frenchmen are the greatest lovers on earth, and no real blooded Parisian wants to hear his favorite city called 'Gay Paree,'" fumed the exasperated official. "From now on, anybody who wants to talk about 'Gay Paree' had better watch his step — because to every patriotic Frenchman, those are fighting words, my friend."

BREMEN, Germany — Caretaker Heinz Korber married his boss into a fortune by tying the knot with a wealthy clod of dirt.

The 54-year-old bachelor said was walking over the lump of soil since his employer Hermann Weckmar died in 1981 and left it behind for us care. He reasons he fell in love with the dirt pile — a relic from the glory of Weckmar's dead wife who had demanded to stay by it so he could make legal decisions about its future.

"I know this seems an odd thing to do," conceded Korber, whose 21-hectare marriage was opposed by a court after Weckmar's relatives contested it. "But after taking care of the lump for so many months I developed a deep fondness for it. And I was getting glad to watch over it anyway — that way we keep the money in the family."

Korber was in the news two years ago when wife and heiress Weckmar died, leaving his estate to the chunk of dirt and appointing him caretaker. The name of real-estate-baron and was the only remaining vestige of Weckmar's wife's grave, which had been paved over when a crematory was constructed to make way for an industrial complex.

'SPACE ALIENS GAVE ME A MIRACLE MEDICINE!'

ALIENS gave the formula for a miracle potion to all mankind

By LISA ADRIANS / Correspondent

Healer Lavinia Rikkles has a miracle potion that cures everything from acne to old age — and she got the formula from a delegation of extraterrestrials!

The Los Angeles health guru says her amazing "space syrup" was a gift from the aliens to all of mankind and that anyone can prepare it from common ingredients.

"This syrup is truly amazing," said Mrs. Rikkles, 57, who used the miracle medicine to cure her arthritis. "It could just astonish to make you after a few weeks of taking it your whole physical and mental condition changes for the better. It contains many ingredients that humans use to improve health, but the formula, which the aliens advanced science has produced, combines these ingredients in a new and different way and it has a remarkable impact on the body.

"The aliens told me that it affects the electrical energy of the body, reversing negative impulses that bring about disease and undesirable reactions. I take a teaspoon every day and I know that it has worked wonders for me. Now the aliens want me to spread the word so that the maximum number of humans will learn about it and use it."

Los Angeles healer claims formula can cure anything

Mrs. Rikkles, who runs a healing center that offers natural products and new age cures, says she encountered the aliens last fall while she was working in her office behind the store. The seven small green creatures appeared out of thin air, she says, and they used their huge glowing eyes to immobilize her.

"They just appeared in the corner of my office and they seemed very loving and concerned," Mrs. Rikkles recalled. "They told me they had great affection and respect for humans and wanted to help us with this gift.

"I couldn't move or speak, but I wasn't afraid. I felt like I was dreaming — and when I woke up the spacemen were gone and the recipe was sitting on the desk in front of me."

Mrs. Rikkles says she mixed up a batch of the syrup the next day and — because it contained nothing she felt would harm her — she took a teaspoonful every day for a month to see what would happen.

"I couldn't believe what it did for me," she says. "My arthritis is gone, my teeth and hair are different, I feel like a teenager again.

"Since then I have shared the recipe with hundreds of people, and it has cured everything — acne, heart disease, depression, and even baldness. The syrup is so wonderful, and I know I have to tell everybody about it. It's a miracle gift — a token of love from outer space."

Mrs. Rikkles says she plans to distribute a free pamphlet on the space syrup recipe sometime later this year. In the meantime, however, she is providing Weekly World News readers with the formula so they can use it and start enjoying good health right away.

SECRET PLOT TO FREE CHARLES MANSON

By MICKEY McGUIRE
Correspondent

A band of drug-brained hippie jerks are hatching a secret plot to free one of the most demented killers ever locked behind bars — madman cult guru Charles Manson!

The rat-faced runt is serving life sentences for ordering the savage Helter-Skelter murders of seven people, including pregnant Hollywood film beauty Sharon Tate.

Now, like vermin festering up from the sewer, a swarm of misfits and malcontents sporting shaved heads and stained white robes hope to do the unthinkable — get Manson released from prison. According to reports, almost 100 men and women in their late teens and early 20s will take to the streets armed with fliers and petitions calling for Manson to be paroled.

Bloody cult wants him out — so he can kill again!

Their carefully prepared plan — crafted by professional campaigners sympathetic to Manson — calls for personal threats, intimidation and outright acts of violence to achieve success.

"These people scare the hell out of me," admitted a now-retired homicide cop who saw firsthand the slaughter that Manson's disciples carried out in Sharon's Beverly Hills estate.

The ex-cop, who was one of the key figures in bringing Manson and his followers to justice, asked not to be identified to protect his family.

"They want Manson out so he can start another family and be their father. Then they can all live in the hills and smoke dope and make love to each other like Squeaky Fromme, Leslie Van Houten and those other Goods were doing back when he was on the loose. What scares me is that these new wackos are just as dangerous as the others were. All Manson would have to do is say, 'Go kill somebody,' and they'd lick their chops and go do it."

That's exactly what happened on the night of Aug. 9, 1969, when, on Manson's explicit instructions, Charles "Tex" Watson, Patricia Krenwinkel, Susan Atkins and Leslie Van Houten staged a massacre that shocked and outraged the nation.

When the butchers finally finished their vicious act, the heiress Abigail Folger, writer-producer Voytech Frykowski, hairstylist Jay Sebring and Steven Parent — were dead.

The five had been shot, clubbed and stabbed repeatedly while Sharon begged to be allowed to live for the sake of her unborn baby.

Instead, the Goods used Sharon's blood to scrawl crazed slogans and words like "pig" on the walls.

Two nights later, the slaughter was repeated in the home of Leno and Rosemary La Bianca.

"Manson is one of the most evil, satanic men who's ever walked the face of the earth," the former cop said. "If he gets out of prison, he'll start killing all over again.

"There isn't much chance that he will get out . . . but HEROIC Lawrence Collier sacrificed his life to rescue his fiancee.

MAN EATEN

. . . minutes after he saves fiancee from killer beasts

LOVERS: Judith Damion, above, and Judith Damion, left, were both attacked by lions in separate incidents.

By KEVIN CREED / Correspondent

NAIROBI, Kenya — A man's heroic effort to save his fiancee from lions ended in tragedy when the ferocious beasts tore him apart and ate him!

But because of his courage, the woman herself escaped with only minor injuries.

The fatal attack occurred in the Masai Mara Game Preserve where a similar disaster took place just two years ago.

"He gave up his life to save mine," the sadly shaken woman told reporters. "He's the bravest man I've ever known and now he's dead because of me."

New Zealand tourists Judith Damion and Lawrence Collier were taking photos of some lions in a holding pen when Miss Damion got too close to the edge, lost her footing and fell in.

"Those horrible animals started coming toward me, blocking my way to the only place that I saw to climb out to safety. I started to pray that death would come quickly. I just didn't think I had a chance.

"But when one of the lions took a swipe at me and clawed my arm, Lawrence suddenly jumped into the pen. He ran at them, shouting at the top of his lungs and waving, desperately trying to distract them from me."

Witnesses said Collier even took off his shirt and waved it to draw the lions' attention.

Finally the hungry animals turned away from Miss Damion and began to attack Collier. He was dragged to the far side of the pen and mauled to death.

Miss Damion was rushed to a hospital where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Game officials said they will not destroy the lions involved in the attack.

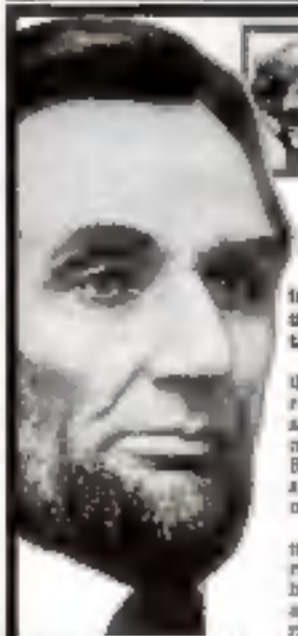
ABE LINCOLN'S GHOST HAUNTS D.C.



MEDICAL MIRACLE: Abra-

By BEATRICE DEXTER / Correspondent

Doctors revived the corpse of Abraham Lincoln in a history-making experiment last September — and now his ghost stalks the halls of a Washington hospital!

The scientists had retrieved the former President's body in response to a public outcry against their ghoulish experiment. But sources at Walter Reed Army Medical Center say the spirit of Lincoln has not returned to the grave.

Instead, it has been spotted many times in the operating room where scientists brought his body back to life for an astounding 30 seconds. The eerie presences is so lifelike that a number of nurses have refused to enter the room at night.

"Most people don't want to go near that operating room, but I have been in there a number of times and seen the ghost. I feel sorry for Lincoln. They should have left him alone."

disturbed him and now Lincoln's ghost is unable to find peace," said one nurse who spoke on condition of anonymity. "The ghost appears to be lost or searching for something, and once or twice it has spoken, asking where it is.

called Revivitol, which has been shown to stimulate regeneration in dead tissue. Doctors wanted to start up the heart of a dead man and perhaps restore basic brain function, and had chosen to work on the well-preserved remains of Lincoln to dramatize their work.

Incredibly, when they injected the wonder "resurrection drug" into Lincoln's body, the dead President moved, spoke and even wept during a breathtaking 30 seconds of consciousness. He then died again.

"The doctors were horrified when publicity about their experiment backfired and newspapers like The World called them 'body snatchers,'" the Walter Reed nurse said. "So they quietly returned Mr. Lincoln.

"A few days later, a friend of mine went into the room where the experiment was conducted and saw a tall, thin man standing there quietly. She asked him what he was doing and he turned toward her with this confused look on his face. She recognized him as Lincoln and was about to run from the room when the ghost vanished into thin air. She says she won't ever go back in that room."

Since then witnesses have seen Lincoln in the hospital hallways and in operating up and charged Collier, ripping his body to shreds.

"His bravery allowed me time to run to the wall, scale it and make my way out," said Miss Damien.

Refuge officials confirmed that the lions were the same ones that attacked and nearly killed German tourist Janice Gruber back in March of 1990.

That story made headlines all over the world. Weekly World News ran the report in the March 17, 1992 issue.

A spokesman for the Preserve said the lions were kept in the pen because all had formerly attacked humans and they were considered too dangerous to run free in the refuge.

Miss Damien was treated for her scratches and released from Victoria Hospital.

"I always complained because Lawrence never told me he loved me," she said.

"But he proved it today. I only wish I could tell him I knew now."

Baby born — with treasure map on its back!

By R. NEALE LIMD
Correspondent

A destitute family found a $5 million fortune in buried rubies, gold and emeralds when they followed a treasure map — in a birthmark on their newborn baby's back!

"It's a miracle," says Alicia DeCastro, the baby's mother, who swears the staggering discovery happened as the result of her prayers. "Our finances were at an all-time low and we had no source of income. All we could do was pray.

"God sent the answer to our prayers — drawn out plain as day in a map on our baby's back. All we had to do was follow it."

Frank DeCastro, the child's father, also believes in the power of prayer. "We had no idea how we'd support another baby. I got laid off my job just two months after Alicia got pregnant and our savings were dwindling fast.

"This had to be the hand of God."

It was DeCastro himself who first noticed the strange map while studying the unusual birthmark under a magnifying glass.

"I was intrigued by that birthmark," says the proud dad from Caberas, Nicaragua. "There seemed to be some kind of design in it, but I couldn't quite make out what it was. Something told me to look at it closer.

"When I put it under the magnifying glass, I was astounded to see that it was a crystal-clear, perfectly scaled map of our backyard with an X marking our corner."

Mr. and Mrs. DeCastro and their eight-year-old daughter Rosa all followed the map together.

"We all pitched in," says Mrs. DeCastro. "We dug about five feet down at the spot marked with the X.

"Our eyes almost popped out of our heads when we saw that rusty trunk. And when we opened it up, those gems were so shiny they almost blinded us."

Doctors are baffled by the otherwise normal infant who came into the world with the mysterious markings on his skin. "I've never seen anything like this in my entire 32-year career," says Dr. Marvin Marquez, the DeCastro's family pediatrician.

"But science doesn't know everything. Every doctor eventually learns that faith is a very powerful thing. Maybe it really was an answered prayer."

Experts estimate the treasure's value at a whopping $5 million. That leaves the DeCastros with a hefty $3 million after the Nicaraguan government takes its 40 percent cut for taxes.

One amazing sidelight of the story: Since the mind-boggling find, the birthmark has begun to fade from the tot's back. Doctors say it's slowly vanishing and will probably be completely gone by the child's first birthday.

dazed and sometimes speaks, asking "Where am I?"

"It breaks my heart to see him," the nurse says. "I believe the doctors woke him and now his spirit is doomed to prowl the earth. They didn't intend for this to happen, of course, but it did.

"It's a terrible tragedy. Lincoln's life was hard enough — now he's suffering in death, too."

The scientific team responsible for the Revivitol experiments has refused to comment on the ghostly rumors. But they say they are postponing further research into Revivitol until next year, pending a review of their
